

Frilot: No space for Humane Society

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Mayor Stella Frilot told Hancock County Humane Society President Thyla Rogers that it was not Waveland's sole responsibility to provide space for the group.

Rogers stated, "We have been in Waveland so long, we feel we are a part of it."

Frilot said, "Why don't you go talk to Bay St. Louis? Or why don't you go talk to the county?"

"This city is not responsible for paying your rent and paying your utilities. The state attorney general said it is not legal...it was good while it lasted, but it is no more."

A question was raised as to the availability of the recently vacated building official's offices in the city hall annex.

Frilot said that space was committed to the library.

Hancock County Library System director Prima Plauche reported for more than one year the library has been requesting space for an extension of its literacy program, headquartered in Waveland.

She said no set agreement has been reached with Waveland as to the use of any additional space, but should such an agreement be reached, it would be as an in-kind service to the library system.

Plauche added, the "literacy program" has increased in size and now has 30 tutors. The additional space would be used for a math class and individual tutoring.

Frilot said the only space available for extended use at this time is two rooms currently occupied by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Ward 4 alderman Stan Weidman questioned when the city was going to begin renovation of the Waveland Civic Center.

He stated monies actually paid for 1991-1992 on the civic center include $400 for utilities and $1,200 for operating supplies.

Waveland accountant Deborah Conravey reported minimum power and water rates were paid by the city to the utility department, although the facility was never used.

$1,200 operating supplies were also paid to the neighboring park's Picayune.

Weidman pointed out the city's 1992 budget shows an expected expenditure of $2,000 for utilities and $1,000 for operating supplies.

Conravey stated, the civic center utility projection of $2,500 is a repeat of the previous year's costs. There will be no cost incurred this year as there is no utility use at the facility.

School board seeks share of gaming $$$

BY LIZ HAAS

Hancock County School Board members discussed methods of obtaining a share of casino revenues at a Monday meeting.

Attorney Joseph Gex advised board members a local and private bill passed in Harrison County affords the school district a percentage of gaming profits.

He suggested drafting a resolution to submit to Rep. J. P. Comprettta, adding an amendment to a local and private bill to allocate a portion of revenues to the Hancock County School District.

Gex was instructed to draft a resolution requesting the Picayune School District to release Hancock County School land located in the John C. Stennis Space Center buffer zone.

In a previous meeting it was revealed that the district is losing approximately $80,000 a year on 16th section land lease revenues by allowing the Picayune district to retain ownership.

The buffer zone land was released to Picayune more than 20 years ago when children residing in that area opted to relocate to schools there.

Lynette Necaise was elected president and Cheryl Bennett, secretary, at the Monday meeting.

Mark Richards, Hancock High School band director, displayed new uniforms from three companies. Fechheimer was awarded the contract to supply 100 uniforms at $22,020.

The band was allocated a $6,000 budget and board members discussed where the remainder of the funds would be obtained.

Bids on hunting and fishing rights on 16th section lands were accepted from:

Jerry Boone and Richard Williams, $3.55 per acre/635.40 acres/five years;

Dr. Edward Donaldson Jr., $2.61 per acre/639.46 acres/five years; and Judd Brooke, $2.61 per acre/245.16 acres/five years.

The board approved a resolution to repay $33,000 borrowed from People's Bank for one year.

Ammo plant to lay off 67

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Mason Technologies general manager B. Ray Scott announced Monday the March 5 discharge of 67 additional employees from the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

Scott stated 80-85 persons would be retained for maintenance of the facility and equipment.

The layoff was said to be across the board, affecting both hourly and salaried employees.

Mason Technologies recently completed a contract for the construction of ammunition shell bases. The contract lasted about eight months and employed between 35 and 40 people.

AMMO—Page 3A

The plant has been marketed for three years by Southern Development Association (SDA), a privately funded group, according to Carroll Gordon of Bay St. Louis.

Since the initial reduction in work force at the plant, SDA with Mason Technologies assisted obtaining the AWM Enterprise, Inc. contract which presently employs 12 persons. AWM is a metal fabrication contractor and has been leasing a portion of the plant facility for the past six months.

Library grant approved

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Plans for an expansion of the Hancock County Library System main branch building received the county's endorsement Monday when system director Prima Plauche announced the state's awarding of at least $200,000 in grant funds to the board of supervisors.

According to Plauche, funds are to be appropriated through a bond bill which will be sold in June and matched by county/city funds.

Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise reported the county has already budgeted $75,000 and has promised another $30,000, still to be budgeted, for the library project.

The Bay St. Louis building has been recommended for an expansion up to 25,000 square feet, she added. The building presently encompasses 8,000 square feet, of which 6,500 are designated for public use.

Plauche stated the next step will be for the board to write an architectural program which details present and future needs.

Construction is to begin this fall, and completion of the project is expected by spring or summer of 1994.

The following appointments were approved for 1993:

Board vice president, supervisor Wilmer Seymour; board attorney, Gerald C. Gex; county clerk, treasurer and auditor, Chancery and Youth Court clerk and county administrator, E. Michael Necaise;

Youth Court and special prosecuting attorney, John Genin; Justice Court clerks and deputies, Elizabeth Cook, Marie Klein and Judith Ladner; County engineer, Lawrence Seal; road superintendent, Sam Cuevas; Public defender and assistants, Nicholas Haas, Stephen Benvenutti, James Tucker and Ann Williamson; purchase clerk, Suzette Beech;

Mardi Gras plans announced

Local organizers announced Monday the creation of a new carnival krewe in conjunction with the Krewe of Real People on Mardi Gras, extending the parade route along Highway 90 and through downtown Bay St. Louis for 6.7 miles. The Krewe of Camelot offers memberships to all wishing to participate. Marketing for the celebration will be offered to visitors through a hotel/pause/package. Major sponsor Casino Magic will host an open party on its Bay Cove Marina grounds where the parade will disband. Pictured are, from left, Krewe of Camelot official Hester Plauche, Casino Magic director of marketing Jeana Rustand, Krewe of Real People captain Charles Johnson, Waveland Resort Inn president Bill Lady and Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association president Jim Henrie. 1993 T&G goal: The advancing of tourism

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

From cooperative marketing to the expansion of local Mardi Gras celebrations, the Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association foresees its role in 1993 as a promoter of tourism.

Jim Henrie, president of T&G, is excited.

T&G is lobbying for an additional 3 percent hotel/motel tax for Hancock County, earmarked for the support of either a separate or joint coastal tourism commission.

T&G would prefer a joint venture, said Henrie, who feels more would be accomplished in the area of marketing with a united effort.

"Our association believes in the totality of what we have to offer here."

Each area (Jackson, Harrison, Hancock) has something to contribute. Our 26-mile beach does not recognize political boundaries.

"We have got to develop, market and promote those traits that make us unique...Our natural resources, our beaches, recreational activities, water activities, geography, weather...these things other places don't have to offer."

Henrie described the new gaming industry as the catalyst for tourism rebirth. Predicting an expansion of the industry within neighboring states, he asked "What is it about the Mississippi Gulf Coast that New Orleans, Memphis or Mobile would not have to offer?"

Continuing the thought, he interjected, consider the current trend within the gaming industry to address the needs of the entire family rather than the three-day conventioneer, and it becomes obvious that the Gulf Coast, and in particular Hancock County, fits the bill.

"With all these things in mind," Henrie stated, "we now need a mechanism by which to encourage this kind of development. Once it is obtained, we can market it. A tourism commission would certainly do that."

As a demonstration of how local events can be promoted, the association will propose an expansion of the Mardi Gras Day Krewe of Real People parade.

Henrie stated, association member Herb Jahncke is a New Orleans carnival float builder who is willing to procure floats from other krewe for use in Hancock on Mardi Gras.

He described, "Taking a unique approach, it will be totally open: not only within the community, but we would want to set aside a certain number of spots so tourists visiting in the area can have a true experience.

"So a couple, say from Chicago, could buy a package, come down here, spend three or four nights in one of our hotels, and be a real participant in a real Mardi Gras parade. Have throws, the whole gamut."

Another need for 1993, Henrie reported, is an association publication to assist in communication between the now 1,200 to 1,300 members.

The T&G began 2½ years ago with 20-25 members. Their ranks grew by 1,000 in 1992.

Henrie portrayed the earlier years as reactive, forefronting the movement towards the legalization of dockside gambling.

"It was a divisive year for the community," he commented.

"Our role since that time has changed," he continued. "Today we view our role as promoting community awareness of tourism as a viable interest."

"In 1993 we must educate ourselves and others about Hancock County's future role in the tourism market."

"I can tell you one thing, tourism has become and will continue to be more meaningful."

FoodSHARE signup set

Signup for this month's FoodSHARE distribution is through January 10. Food delivery date is January 23.

The Rev. Charles E. Clark, minister of pastoral care at Faith Assembly of God in Kiln, is coordinator of the program in Hancock County. He said that in each of the last two months, more than 200 orders have been placed.

Churches now participating include Maranatha Church in Picayune, Faith Assembly of God in Kiln, First Assembly of God and Joy Fellowship in Waveland, Power House of Deliverance in Bay St. Louis and Shifaloh Baptist Church in Kiln. The Senior Citizen centers in Pass Christian and Hancock County also are participating, Clark said.

People who sign up for the program pay $14 for each grocery packet they want and volunteer two hours of community service per packet. One dollar of the amount goes for transportation costs.

The $14 can be paid by cash, money order or food stamps, and the community service must be completed prior to delivery day. All orders must be paid by the January 10, 1993 deadline.

A packet consists of frozen meats, fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables and bonus items such as pinto beans, rice and seasonings.

In order to protect frozen foods and to ensure fruit and vegetable freshness, Hancock FoodSHARE hours for pick up will be from 9:00-10:30 a.m.

To sign up, contact Clark at 255-3066.

He commented within the past few months 400-500 letters were sent to companies with manufacturing capabilities, and one has demonstrated great interest.

"What I like concerning this company, should we win the contract, is that it is a commercial business, non-dependent on government contracts."

Gordon added one of the greatest deterrents the association has faced in the past months has been the red tape surrounding the Army's ability to negotiate.

"I feel like I have been crawling in glue," he stated. "I feel like the Army is beginning to understand there must be some concessions."

In February 1990 the U.S. Army announced plans to close the plant, then employing 1,750 persons.

At present there are approximately 150 employees remaining of the original peak employment numbers.

As of Monday, road supervisor Sam Cuevas is to devote all his time to road work.

The Board of Supervisors instructed Cuevas to designate supervisory roles over garbage collections, beach maintenance and building/grounds maintenance to assistant road supervisor Tommy Moran.

Board president (District 5) supervisor Mike Ladner said the county would buy the equipment and materials needed within the next few months to begin proper repairing and maintaining of county roads.

District 1 supervisor Robert Peterson commented that when people telephone complaints to the central barn they are told, "This broke down," or, "That can't be done."

"We can't be giving excuses," Peterson stated, "we need results."

Cuevas told board members, "Give me the equipment, and the work will be done."

Cuevas was told to prepare a list of needs from wash (not peat) gravel, to blades for grass cutting.

Ladner concluded roads and drainage are a priority for the new year.

Board members stated a workshop will be held prior to the February 1 approval of the county's five-year road plan, during which time priorities shall be designated as potential amendments.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I received the copy of articles, one from the Orlando Sentinel's Business section and another from a magazine titled Orlando, both featuring a Kiln native.

The articles are about Norman Glass, brother of Lynn Nell and Billie Faye Lyons of Kiln, who is married to the former Frances Saucier of Bay St. Louis.

Glass, as some of you may know, is the acting executive director of the Orlando International Airport and Orlando Executive Airport.

He graduated from Kiln High School in 1941, and as most young men of that class, ended up in the Army. He received two purple hearts by the end of the war.

After marriage he joined the Air Force and remained in the military until retirement as a chief warrant officer in 1970.

Glass was hired as airport superintendent, was the number two person at the airport for 22 years and has kept going strong. He won some $500 million in government grants to build and maintain runways, terminals and other related air travel facilities.

He became the director in 1992 when long-time director John S. Wyckoff retired.

Just in October of this past year, Glass was able to acquire $39 million from U.S. Transportation Secretary Andrew Card to renovate ramps, design an international terminal and buy land for a fourth runway.

I think it is great to see the high praises that Glass is receiving and to realize he is another native from Hancock County who is making it big.

Did you notice the number of football games on television over the long weekend?

Those who enjoy watching football on television got their share of viewing time. I have had some say there was even too much football on television over the long weekend.

I know there were Saints fans who drove all the way from here to New Orleans to see the fourth failure at a playoff game victory for the Saints.

Things sure looked good for the Saints in the first half, just like Houston earlier in the day, but boy, did fate twist the other way in the second halves.

Buffalo made history by coming back from a 32-point deficit to win their game against Houston, while the New Orleans Saints lost their game in the second half and are now 0-4 in playoffs and the only team in the league without a playoff victory.

Saints fans can always look forward to next year, just as they have over the past 25 years or so.

On the college level the results of the Bowl games were mostly good with the exception of Mississippi State losing in the Peach Bowl.

Alabama sure looked good in winning the national championship by defeating Miami in the Sugar Bowl.

It had been some time since the Sugar Bowl game was between the number one and two ranked teams in the country.

The Tide sure rolled, and we saw a lot of Alabama and Miami supporters passing through our county on the way to the Sugar Bowl.

Rooms were so scarce in New Orleans, the Coast hotels and motels were all booked solid over the New Year's weekend.

It turned out to be an exceptional weekend for a lot of business establishments on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Enforcement of buffer zone restrictions devastates many

Dear Editor:

This letter is in regard to the January 4 Sun Herald article referring to the Stennis Space Center's buffer zone as a headache when it splits a home.

After 30 years the buffer zone is still devastating families and all the media has to say is that it is a 'headache'.

In the early 1960s, hundreds of families were devastated when NASA and the Army Corps of Engineers forced them out of their homes by having them agree to an easement which restricts habitat structures, by inciting fear of legal repercussions and damages from a rocket that never was built or tested.

The government paid a one-time fee, what they called fair market value for this easement. The landowner was left with the taxes to pay, even though valid tax liens against land taken by the federal government must be satisfied from the awards paid by the government, and where the stipulation permitting government to renew a lease involved in condemnation, proceeding from year to year in perpetuity without the consent of landowner, constitutes the taking of a valuable property interest at the present time for which just compensation must be paid.

Recently the government claims that the easement was not imposed on anyone, and that the landowners voluntarily sold the easement to the government, even though the government filed suit in 1961, condemning some 116,650 acres in Hancock and Pearl River counties before notifying the landowners.

If the easement was not imposed on anyone, then the government must have been fraudulent in negotiating the easement. Another problem with this suit is that the power to condemn property found to be a menace to public health or safety is not the power of eminent domain, but part of the police power, and may not be exercised by the national government within a state.

Roy Estess, director of Stennis Space Center, has stated in regard to Brad Bordes that the government is not at fault. He stated that the property was either placed or constructed in the buffer zone subsequent to the government's acquisition of the easement estate as if this just occurred overnight.

It is the responsibility of NASA and the Corps to patrol the buffer zone, report any violations and maintain compliance.

Over the years, they have

Q. Does the VA offer education counseling to help veterans determine how to use their educational benefits?

A. Yes. Individuals eligible for educational benefits under Educational Assistance for Persons Enlisting for Active Duty, the Montgomery GI Bill (active and reserve), or the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program are eligible for educational and vocational counseling. Counseling may be provided on active duty or after separation. Individuals, except those with dishonorable discharges, who are otherwise ineligible for educational benefits, may receive counseling within 180 days of separation or up to one year after discharge.

Q. I am eligible for VA educational benefits under the Montgomery GI Bill for the Selected Reserve (Chapter 106). Since I was ordered to active duty for six months during Operation Desert Storm, can I get an extension to the amount of time allowed to use my benefits?

A. Yes. The VA will extend the ending date of Chapter 106 eligibility by the amount of time served on active duty, plus four months for members of the Selected Reserve ordered to

Q. Is entitlement charged for remedial/deficiency training under Chapter 35 (Survivors' and Dependents' Educational Assistance)?

Q. I am a World War II veteran, and I would like to be buried in Arlington National Cemetery. I was told that only certain veterans are eligible to be buried there. What are the requirements?

For more information, you should write to: Superintendent, Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va. 22211, or telephone (703) 695-3250.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Espy positioned to boost Mississippi

On Christmas Eve, President-elect Bill Clinton announced that Representative Mike Espy was his choice for the position of Secretary of Agriculture. This selection holds great promise for our state and our country.

Espy has quickly built a positive reputation for himself in Congress, emerging as an active member of the Agriculture Committee. His representation of the primarily rural, agriculture-based 2nd District also lends strength to his nomination by Clinton.

Espy's nomination is a great coup not only for himself, but for the state. With the effective removal of Jamie Whitten from power in the Appropriations Committee, Mississippi had lost its oldest and most senior voice on Capitol Hill. Espy should be able to regain some of that lost momentum in his new position, lobbying Congress on agricultural issues of importance to the state with the power of the White House behind him.

The appointment of Espy also means that the political engineer will be gearing up for another race in the 2nd District. The battle to replace Espy in the House will undoubtedly be a heated one.

But for the moment, this state can be proud to know that one of its own will be in the White House inner circle, representing the major industry of the state at the highest level of national government.

Chamber president has good outlook for 1993

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce President John Mason, says his primary goals for the chamber are the same he had when he served in the same position eight years ago.

"I will be working towards a more united Hancock County as I did in 1985. On the positive side, I will say the governmental bodies are working much closer together today than in 1985," Mason added.

Mason continued, "Sometimes different entities have different goals, but we are all looking for the same thing for Hancock County, good times, prosperity, good jobs, and good life. I think we should all work together, because there is strength in numbers."

He did say the two cities (Bay St. Louis and Waveland) are working together now, adding, "I don't know whether the gaming had anything to do with it, or maybe it is for survival."

"There is a better working relationship between the Board of Supervisors and the two cities too," Mason said.

Mason reported he was pleased with the chamber's current education and beautification committees' projects and goals and will continue to support their efforts in any way possible.

One thing Mason said, in reference to the chamber's education committee, and that would be the reactivating the Dick Kosab Education Award, which is presented to an outstanding student in the community each year.

Mason in commenting about the different civic groups, feels with the chamber working with them, as it does have a professional staff, can help them seek their goals, as we are all looking for the same thing."

Diamondhead (Professional Association and other organizations), are now working much closer with other groups now, as they are now interested in the good of the overall community too, Mason said.

Two things Mason would like to see active in the chamber, the tourism and legislative and governmental affairs committees which were very active during his last term as president.

"I think they are much more important now, as gaming is bringing in many more tourists.

The legislative and governmental affairs committee is really needed because there are so many things (legislative and governmental) coming down the line we need to know," Mason said.

Mason feels with Bill Johnson as a new state senator, this will give us more information from Jackson, as he was a member of the chamber's board of directors this past year and even served on the executive committee. He was also the chairman of the Beach Front Festival.

On behalf of the chamber's officers and board of directors, Mason has sent a letter to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, offering a pledge to help them in all endeavors to improve Hancock County, such as holding public forums on subjects of concern to the citizens.

The letter also indicated the chamber wanted to work with the supervisors particularly in helping to find solutions to such problems as roads, land use, wastewater disposal, beach erosion, wetland regulations and unprecedented growth.

Mason said he felt the biggest issue facing our elected leaders was how to address the wastewater treatment in the county, which has shut down much of the county thus far as construction goes.

The John C. Stennis Space Center still has a lot to offer Hancock County Mason stated, saying, "NASA and the Navy

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Bob Valigovsky states, "the department had 23 runs last month with 15 being medically related. Eleven of these were at night, calling attention to a big problem, house numbers."

Many numbers on the boxes are so small, some no numbers at all, or when the red flag is down it covers the numbers.

This causes much frustration when the firemen are responding to an emergency.

"They are requesting that your number be legible, three-inch minimum size on a contrasting background. The two or three minutes wasted locating the proper address can make a big difference."

Valigovsky thanks all those folks who purchased trees and Boy Scout Troop 20 and the volunteers for a successful Christmas tree sale.

We Diamondhead residents are so grateful to our fire and security departments for taking such good care of us.

DIAMONDHEAD GREENS

William (Bill) Smith has recently joined the Diamondhead staff as golf course superintendent. He has played courses from California to Florida to Scotland and says, very rarely has he run across a golf course with as much character as the "Cardinal" in Diamondhead.

"It is a beautiful course with the potential to be No. 1," said Smith.

He welcomes the opportunity and the challenge of this task, and says, "I can't do it! My crew can't do it! But with the help of the members, the guests, the golf staff, players and anyone involved in golf in Diamondhead—we can!"

We welcome Bill, his wife Jo and young son Tanner. Good luck!

COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

Paul Montjoy, Diamondhead's general manager reports in the Diamondhead newsletter that the program for country club renovation and Pro shop move is ongoing. The task is slow due to having to work around the many parties and events held in the club.

No vacation closing in January for the yacht club. Usually the clubs have closed two weeks per year for employee vacation, but with the food and beverage staffs working together, they can schedule vacations during the year.

The country club is offering a luncheon, soup, salad and hot entree bar again for the benefit of those without much time. It is ideal, because you can be on your way in a short time, and the prices are reasonable, too. Don't forget the popular Sunday brunch, always so good with champagne and Bloody Marys at a special price.

For the best quality, it is important that wild game be dressed as soon as possible after killing," Stark said. "Big game such as deer must be bled and field dressed immediately."

The nutritionist said weather will affect the length of time game will safely keep "from the kill to the cooler." During warmer hunting days, game will need cooling down sooner than during the colder months.

Smaller game such as rabbits, birds and squirrels especially need to be kept cool over an extended period of time like a day-long hunt. Small game stored in mass after killing increase heat and danger.

Starks said opinions vary on whether or not aging meat is necessary to tenderize game.

Preparing wild game requires proper care

By Linda S. Moore
MSU Information Services

From the fields to the kitchens, preparing wild game for the table requires experience and knowledge for the safest and tastiest results.

Nelda Starks, nutrition education specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said some amount of field dressing is necessary for most types of game before bringing it home for complete cleaning. Some type of cooler should be available to the hunter.

To remove some of the gamey or wild taste, soak overnight in a vinegar and water or salt water solution. With deer, fat can be trimmed to reduce the strong flavor.

"However, people should learn to appreciate the wild taste rather than cover it up," Starks said.

Remember, when cooking the meat, that wild game is by nature a tougher meat. Therefore, use a cooking method that will aid in tenderizing.

"Any kind of game needs to be served either very hot or very cold for the best taste," Starks said.

Starks said nutritionally, wild game generally has less fat than other meats. Deer, specifically, tends to be lower in fat and cholesterol than beef.

Commercial king mackerel season closed, reopens July

Commercial king mackerel season closed Jan. 1 in Mississippi waters, will reopen again July 1.

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks voted in Jackson to adopt the proposed ordinance.

The action was taken on the recommendation of the Bureau of Marine Resources after a public hearing on the issue earlier this month.

Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries, said action was necessary to comply with federal laws, even though few king mackerel are found in Mississippi waters during colder months.

LITTER IS UNLAWFUL

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Now is a good time for boat equipment maintenance time to talk about some really important stuff like catching fish.

I am sorry to say that the fishin' has been less than good. I think it has something to do with the weather. In fact, just the other day, some folks had to explain to me what that mysterious bright ball was in the sky.

The good news for those folks who like to go after the meow fish is that they are biting in the river systems. Had some especially good reports from several dedicated meow fishermen that their trot lines are producing about 50 percent of their sets.

These folks report that the cats are running about one to four pounds. One man reported that he brought in a cat that weighed in at 37 pounds. That ain't bad, folks.

Trot lines are the secret to bringing home the cats. For those folks who don't know what a trot line is, you know, for sure, that I am just gonna have to lay the answer on ya!

A trot line is a line that you trot along next to and pick it up as you go along. Most people use a boat to trot along their trot line, but I guess there must be some reason why you gotta trot.

A trot line is usually made up of anywhere from 25 feet of heavy-duty twine to as much as several hundred feet of twine. Hooks are placed very so many feet along the line, usually about every three to six feet. The hooks are tied to the long line by about three feet of twine.

To keep the whole thing close to the bottom of the area where you are fishin', a variety of things are used as weights: bricks, lead, sinkers, engine parts, mothers-in-law, and so forth. In other words, anything that is heavier than water.

Did I mention that fishing for catfish with a trot line is among the least expensive of sports? Well it is.

The choice of bait for trot lines seems to be almost as varied as the type of sinkers. Some folks swear that the only bait to use is the cacaho minnow. Others will only use the so-called "smelly" baits like smashed and pelletized liver baits—ugg.

Lately, the hottest new bait seems to be the hot dogs that have cheese in them. The meow fish seem to go crazy over these new cheese hot dogs; I wonder if people eat them also.

This week's wonderful wise words: I wonder if you need those new air pump basketball shoes to trot over the water when running your trot line.

Maybe the fog in the air can fog your brain, turtle.

King Cakes

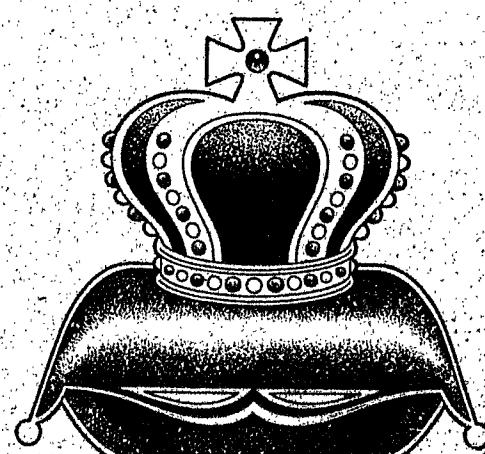

Fresh from the oven

The aroma of cinnamon and freshly baked sweet bread fill the air at Winn-Dixie as Loretta Johnson and Deli-Bakery assistant manager Patricia Calloway remove a tray of King Cakes from the oven. Icing and sprinkled sugar in Mardi Gras colors of yellow, green and purple are applied as the cakes cool. Variations of the traditional King Cake include fruit and cream cheese fillings. King Cakes mark the Epiphany celebration

BY LIZ HAAS

The Feast of Epiphany, January 6, is a great ancient feast that celebrates the coming of the Magi to pay homage to the newborn Jesus Christ and his baptism.

On Christ's Epiphany, astrologers from the East followed a star looking for the newborn Messiah. They went to Jerusalem inquiring where the King of the Jews was.

King Herod of Judea found out about the birth and wanted to destroy the baby Jesus.

He sent the astrologers to Bethlehem and instructed them to find out information on the baby and report back to him.

The astrologers followed the star to a standstill over the place where the baby lay with Mary and Joseph. They gave the baby gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

They received a message in a dream not to return to Herod, so they took a different route back to their own country.

The Magi, known as kings, were esteemed and honored astrologers who traveled over 500 miles to pay homage to the baby Jesus.

The Western church emphasizes the manifestation of Jesus' glory in the Magi who bought gifts to him, his baptism when the voice of the Father was heard and the wedding feast at Cana where water blushed to become wine.

The twelve days of Christmas lead to Epiphany, which celebrates the manifestation of Christ. For many Christians, Epiphany signifies the end of the Christmas season.

"Christmas is the birth of Jesus for Jews, whereas, Epiphany is the manifestation of God's love to Gentiles and it extends the Christmas period beyond the commercial Christmas," said the Reverend Peter Mockler, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

With the arrival of the three kings, a period of joyous celebration is begun and continues until the day after Mardi Gras (Fat Tuesday) when the Lenten season begins.

In our local area, people use the King Cake as a means of celebrating this occasion.

A baby is hidden in a circular cake and the person who receives the piece with the baby in it is supposed to buy the next King Cake. Also, the time following Epiphany until the first day of Lent is filled with carnival celebration.

BHS Honor Society donates

Tisdale, Bay-Waveland School District superintendent, a check in the amount of $150 to be used towards the construction of a new BHS track. The money for the donation was raised through fund-raisers conducted by 1991-92 NHS members. From left: Michel le-Dean, secretary; Gretchen Breland, vice president; Tisdale; Jennifer Labat, president; and Carie Zimmerman, treasurer.

Daisy Girl Scout Troop #251

During September, the troop of 13 kindergarten girls collected 202 used telephone books and delivered them to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for recycling.

In October the girls had a Halloween party during which they decorated cookies, learned about Halloween safety and played games.

For Thanksgiving, the troop assisted Coast Episcopal Elementary School by collecting food and distributing more than 800 canned goods to the Hancock County Food Pantry. They also made Thanksgiving banners to decorate Hotel Reed Nursing Home.

At one of the bi-monthly meetings, the girls used material scraps, construction paper and other recyclables to dress each other up as turkeys. The girls also collected and delivered news papers to the Animal Shelter in Waveland.

In preparation for Christmas, the Daisies put wrapping paper on boxes for food collection at CEES for distribution to the Salvation Army.

Brownie Scout Troops

Brownie Scout Troop #304 extends its thanks to the troop members' parents and the community around Hancock North Central Elementary, for their help in making the dance at the Elementary School gym a successful way to raise canned goods for the Salvation Army. The theme of the dance was "Making a Difference", and those who participated did.

Brownie Troop #327 members worked on two badges in October and November, Deciding with Girl Scouts and World of the Arts. They completed both on November 30.

The troop thanks James Baldree for his cooperation with helping organize the troop meetings, and Waveland Elementary School teach Ray Glenn for speaking to the troop November 30.

The troop also thanks the parents who attended the November 30 meeting, to see the girls perform their puppet and safety plays.

Daisy Girl Scout Troop #255

The troop meets at the North Bay Elementary School cafeteria Tuesdays, 3-4 p.m. At present, the troop has one Cadette Scout and 10 girls registered from the kindergarten and first grade classes.

The troop members have been meeting since September 29 and have participated in a craft activity each week; decorated their own t-shirts, learned songs, heard stories, played games and learned about Girl Scouts in America and other countries.

The troop is led by Shawn Prychko, a former Girl Guide from Canada, where she had many years' experience in both the Girls and Boys Scout movements.

The troop extends its thanks to the Gulf Pines Council, for startup funds, and the following businesses, companies and people for supplies and support: Price Shultz Carpeting, Family Dollar Store, Jitney Jungle; the Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Pass Christian libraries and the local librarians for their involvement in storytime activities. The librarians have provided crafts, games and resources to find ideas to enhance the troop meetings.

The troop members are preparing for their investiture later this month. They will receive their membership pins, and some members will be awarded with badges for a recycling project and a community service project.

The girls took part in the Toys for Tots parade December 5, and decorated their own wrapping paper for the gifts they decorated.

They recently joined with the Brownie troop at North Bay Elementary for Christmas caroling at the Residential Care Home on Dunbar Avenue. The Daisies gave the residents a banner they decorated for Christmas.

OTHER SCOUTING NEWS

Junior Girl Scout Troop #404, Brownie Troops #269 and 351, Daisy Troops #242 and #255 marched in the Toys for Tots Christmas parade in Bay St. Louis December 5, and donated toys to the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund, presenting them to the Bay St. Louis Fire Department.

Hancock Library use breaks record

The Hancock County Library System reported another record-breaking year, according to annual statistics recently submitted to the Mississippi Library Commission and to the National Center for Education Statistics.

"We are very pleased to report continued increases in use of information services in Hancock County," said Prima Plauche, library system director.

"Libraries usually reflect the communities they serve, and our library system truly represents the economic and demographic growth our county and municipalities have been experiencing."

Visits made to libraries in Hancock County for the purpose of borrowing print and non-print materials increased by more than 17 percent in fiscal year 1992. Individual borrowing transactions increased by more than 20 percent.

More than 34,000 individuals visited a library in the system to borrow books, videos, books on tape, talking books for the blind and handicapped, audio-visual equipment, or phono discs.

Thousands more used the three library facilities for research, forms, programs, meetings, copying and fax services, reference services and general information requests.

Some 123,332 borrowing transactions were recorded for the year by the library system's automated circulation system. Printed materials accounted for the majority of the transactions. In addition, books on tape and videos circulated more than 11,000 times.

Library staff processed more than 5,000 requests for holds against items that were not in at the time requested and provided individual reference assistance to 8,628 individuals, a 9.7 percent increase over 1991.

Library public services are provided 100 hours per week, six days a week. The centralized services offices located in the main library in Bay St. Louis are open 45 hours a week to provide bookkeeping, personnel, purchasing, materials acquisition and processing, grants management, data processing and administrative services to the three branches and the library's literacy program.

The library's literacy program operates five days a week at three locations.

The library system is funded by Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, and Waveland. In addition, the system was the recipient of several state and federal grants during 1992 that supplemented its local government income.
